TICKETS ON SALE FOR 2013 BARCLAYS ATP WORLD TOUR FINALS IN LONDON

LONDON – Tickets to the 2013 Barclays ATP World Tour Finals at The O2 in London are now on public sale, the ATP announced Tuesday. From today, fans worldwide can secure their place at the spectacular season-ending tournament featuring only the world's top eight singles and doubles teams of the season. Tickets to the tournament, which takes place from 4-11 November, can be purchased at: www.BarclaysATPWorldTourFinals.com

Three months into the 2013 ATP World Tour season, all eight singles places for the season finale are still up for grabs, yet it's the players who will go down among the greatest in the history of the sport who once again look primed to qualify for this year's tournament.

In particular, the prospect of a return to London for the in-form Rafael Nadal, who was forced to miss last year's tournament through injury, will excite fans in London. The Spaniard, who has captured three ATP World Tour titles in 2013, is currently ranked No. 4 in the Emirates ATP Rankings, with Britain's Andy Murray at No. 3. Roger Federer, a six-time Barclays ATP World Tour Finals champion, trails the 2013 Australian Open champion Novak Djokovic as the reigning World No. 1.

"It's always one of the first goals you set yourself at the start of the year, to be able to qualify to compete in London in November at the season finale," said Djokovic, the 2012 Barclays ATP World Tour Finals champion. "It was an amazing feeling to finish the season by winning the title there last year, and I'll do everything I can to defend my title in 2013."

Andre Silva, Tournament Director, said: "London has been a fantastic host for our season-ending event and the fans have come out in huge numbers to support the world's best players. Last year, over 70,000 tickets had been sold after the first day of the public sale, so we urge fans to act quickly to ensure they don't miss out on what is shaping up to be another thrilling event."

The Barclays ATP World Tour Finals has welcomed more than a million fans to The O2 arena over the past four years, establishing itself as the biggest indoor tennis tournament in the world since moving to London in 2009. Total prize money for this year's tournament will increase to $6 million, a 10% increase on 2012. The event will be played at The O2 in London through 2015.

About the Barclays ATP World Tour Finals

The Barclays ATP World Tour Finals is the year-end climax to the men's professional tennis season, featuring only the world's best eight qualified singles players and doubles teams as they battle it out for the last title of the season. Players compete for Emirates ATP Rankings points throughout the season in a bid to earn one of the eight coveted berths and a chance to win the $1.92m prize money on offer for the winner. Played using a round-robin format, each player plays three matches as they compete for a berth in the knockout semi-finals and beyond. The prestigious tournament has been contested in major cities around the world with a rich history dating back to the birth of The Masters in 1970 in Tokyo. Since 2000 the event has taken place in cities such as Lisbon, Sydney, and Shanghai. In 2009 the tournament was moved to London, where it will be played through 2015.
